Royal Highlanders.

The Royal Highlander entertainment and dance last Monday evening was a decided success. Fully 150 people were in attendance and every one left feeling that he had had a good time. One of the items of striking interest on the programme was an address by Elmer O. Leatherwood, a Sait Lake City attorney, who spoke most effectively concerning the Scotch people. This was the first Royal Highlander social given for some time past, and constituted the opening of a series of monthly socials and dances to be given by Utah castle No. 338. A large number of applications for membership in this order were obtained by hustling members during the evening, and Monday evenings for at least the next three in October will be given up to initiation work.
